PROJECTS

CoverMe (Python, Flask, Websockets, React, Redux, Javascript, SQLAlchemy)

live | github

An app made for employees to be able to cover and request coverage for a shift.

- Integrated websockets and auth routes to allow users to send messages in real time while restricting access to messages outside of their group to secure the privacy of messages to those in each group
- Developed an algorithm to arrange each day in each month correctly using conditionals without any pre-existing packages or components to display an accurate calendar for the user to create and view calendar events
- Formed custom APIs using Python and SQLAlchemy to manage the request and response cycle of the application in order to allow smooth transfers of information for the users

Farm To Table (Python, Flask, React, Redux, Javascript, SQL)

live | github

A commerce web app where users can order different produce straight from the farmers

- Formed custom SQL queries and used SQLAlchemy in order to manage CRUD operations for the shopping carts for each user to be able to use and update their cart
- Applied auth routes to confine the users access to only their carts to ensure that no other users can view its contents
- Utilized Git feature branching to manage work done by my team to guarantee no conflicts in the final product
